

BSC Member Offer 2009

100 free examinations for your organisation ... worth £1,745!

Provide your employees with a formal qualification in health and safety

As part of its charitable mission, the British Safety Council will pay for up to 100 of your employees to sit the examination leading to the BSC Level 1 Certificate in Health and Safety at Work, a nationally-recognised qualification in health and safety.

Member organisations that claimed free examinations last year may claim a further 100 this year.

How it works

- Register now by telephoning BSC Examinations on 020 8600 1034 or e-mailing examinations@britsafe.org
- Sign up to become a registered centre free of charge (normally £570)
- Prepare your candidates for the 40-question multiple choice examination using the free learning materials supplied by the BSC
- Order up to 100 examinations free of charge (normally £11.74)
- Invigilate the examinations and return the answer forms for marking
- Receive results and qualification certificates within five working days

Conditions

- Offer only available to members of the British Safety Council (Membership starts from as little as £350)
- Maximum of 100 examinations per organisation
- Examinations must be sat during 2009
- Offer subject to availability on a first-come, first-served basis

To register telephone BSC Examinations on 020 8600 1034

e-mail: examinations@britsafe.org

www.britsafe.org/exams

The BSC will provide your organisation, free of charge, with a CD from which you can print handouts, Powerpoint slides and lesson plans to prepare your candidates.