Health & Safety for Directors/Senior Managers

Course Outline

▶ Course objectives

This 1 day training course will provide delegates with an outline of their personal and organisational duties and responsibilities under health & safety legislation. We will also provide you with a detailed overview of the new Corporate Manslaughter Act and what you will need to ensure you are complying with the legislation.

▶ Who should attend?

The course is suitable for directors, senior managers and others who may have responsibility for health & safety at work or are key decision makers for the organisation.

▶ Learning outcomes

At the end of the course delegates will be able to:

- Clearly interpret their duties and responsibilities under the new Corporate Manslaughter Act
- Outline the business drivers for improving health & safety standards in the workplace
- Describe the legal system in the UK as it applies to health & safety at work and particularly in relation to workplace litigation
- Outline the legal duties for employers and employees under the health and safety at work etc act 1974 (HASWA)
- Outline the main requirements for employers and employees under the management of health & safety at work regulations 1999 (MHSW)
- Identify a range of important legal requirements for all organisations
- Describe a range of initiatives which can be introduced into the workplace to develop best practice
- Answer common questions that are frequently asked within organisations about basic H&S issues.
