

Health and Safety for Directors and Senior Managers

What is it?

A one-day exercise which raises awareness of the importance of health, safety and welfare among directors and senior managers. Participants assume the role of directors of a fictitious company.

Exercise objectives

By the end of the exercise, participants will:

- Understand their accountability in relation to health, safety and welfare in the workplace
- Understand the consequences of failing to manage health, safety and welfare in the workplace
- Understand how to reduce risks to people and the business.

Benefits

- Raises awareness of the importance of health, safety and welfare at director level
- Equips directors with strategies for active, visible leadership in relation to health, safety and welfare
- Highlights the fact that good health and safety is good for business.

Delivered in your workplace

- On a date of your choice we deliver this exercise to a group of directors and/or senior managers
- Cost effective as there are no travel and accommodation costs
- Participants benefit from discussions related to their organisation.

At a training centre

- The exercise is facilitated in a comfortable, well-equipped classroom
- Taking time out of the workplace lets people focus on health and safety leadership
- Directors from different businesses and backgrounds can learn from each other.
