Dentons

Malcolm heads up Dentons' Scottish Health & Safety team and is based in the firm's Aberdeen office. His principal areas of activity are in the Food & Drink, Oil & Gas and Rail Transport sectors.

Malcolm's practice focusses on contentious health & safety matters, in particular on HSE investigations and prosecutions arising out of major accidents and fatalities. He is a regular speaker at Scottish industry events and author of articles on health & safety matters in publications including Scottish Legal News, the Press & Journal, the Scotsman and the Journal of the Law Society of Scotland. Malcolm lectures on health & safety law at the University of Aberdeen.
