

Chris Green

Partner

Keoghs

---

Chris leads our and crime and regulatory team across the Midlands and specialises exclusively in providing expert advice in relation to adverse incidents and compliance with regulatory requirements.

A former prosecutor, since 1995 his experience includes representing companies, directors, senior managers, public sector organisations and individuals in defending, responding to and avoiding regulatory breaches.

He provides specialist support and advice from the outset following accidents and crisis events such as food, fire, rail and environmental incidents within his clients' businesses.

Chris was first ranked in Chambers in 2003 and he has been named as one of the Top 50 legal advisers in the North West. For many years he has been a named individual with a Top Tier ranking for Health and Safety in the Legal 500 and quoted in Chambers.

He is also quoted in the legal experts section of Tolley's Guide to Corporate Manslaughter and has been published, interviewed and quoted by the Times, BBC Breakfast, BBC Radio 2, Radio 5 Live and Central News. He has also written published articles for the Financial Times, Insurance Post, Birmingham Post and Estates Gazette and Chris regularly delivers speeches and training for the leading practitioners' bodies such as IOSH, ROSPA, the British Safety Council etc.

He sits on the IOSH Food and Drink Industries Committee. Before joining Keoghs, Chris led a highly regarded team of specialist regulatory lawyers, the team's accolades included a top tier ranking in Legal 500 in the East and ranked in West Midlands.

Chris Green

Partner

Keoghs